BasicVoIP's Integrated Platform, Network and R&D Team allow us to offer a complete One-Stop-Shop Hosted Adaptive Solution that allows our customers to reduce their Time-to-Market to compete in the exponentially growing VoIP market.

Our Solution combines traditional and next-generation services to create custom innovative products. The impact derived by this combination – proven traditional services plus the flexibility and advanced capabilities of VoIP – will have immediate acceptance in any marketplace since not only broadband access users are potential customers, but anyone with either a regular telephone line or a WiFi-enabled device (i.e. Cellular Phone or Laptop computer).

What really makes this combination of services even more powerful is the capability of the Platform to customize specific product that will target the specific requirements of an individual market.

From Intelligent Calling Card Services to PC-based and Analog-Telephone-Adapter (ATA) Products, you have complete control over what you offer to your customers.
